Communication on progress on the UN Global Compact

Implats' 2022 Communication on progress on the UN Global Compact

The United Nations Global Compact is a voluntary global initiative that addresses human rights, labour, environmental and corruption issues through a commitment to ten principles derived from authoritative sources of international law, such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the core declarations of the International Labour Organisation, the Rio Declaration on Environment and Development, and the United Nations Convention against Corruption. Implats became a signatory to the UN Global Compact in July 2008.

The following table provides a brief overview of our implementation of the ten principles. More detailed information is available throughout our environment, social and governance report (ESG) 2022.

1. Businesses should support and respect the protection of international human rights within their sphere of influence.	Our commitment to human rights is described in our human rights policy (https://www.implats.co.za/pdf/sustainable-key-development-documents/human-rights-policy-statement-2022.pdf), which commits us to fully comply with applicable legislation in the regions in which we operate, as well as to implementing the human rights principles in the United Nations Global Compact. Employees are trained on human rights as part of our compulsory induction process. All our contractors are expected to abide by our human rights policy, practices, standards and the laws of the countries in which we operate. An independently managed channel is available to anonymously report any unfair practices and violations of human rights. We also have an established responsible sourcing policy (https://www.implats.co.za/pdf/sustainable-key-development-documents/platinum-and-palladium-responsible-sourcing-policy-20200703.PDF) to ensure that our suppliers of platinum and palladium do not, among other things, infringe on human rights in their operations. We continue to align our security practices with the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights. There were no allegations related to the abuse of human rights in the year under review. In 2022 we conducted a high-level human rights due diligence at all our operations, aligned with the requirements of the UNGPs. The gaps identified and follow-up detailed site-level due-diligence exercises will be disclosed in our 2023 corporate reports.	Our approach to human rights, respect for the heritage of indigenous communities, responsible resettlements and responsible sourcing is provided in our review on Respecting Human Rights and Responsible Sourcing on pages 30 to 33 of our ESG report 2022 (https://www.implats-ir.co.za/reports/implats-iar-2022/pdf/ESG-spreads.pdf)
2. Businesses should make sure their own corporations are not complicit in human rights abuses.	We strive to uphold this principle through our Group-wide human rights policies, and code of ethics (https://www.implats.co.za/pdf/sustainable-key-development-documents/2021/implats-group-code-of-ethics-2021.pdf) which are compatible with the applicable legislation in our operating jurisdictions.	Our approach to human rights, respect for the heritage of indigenous communities, responsible resettlements and responsible sourcing is provided in our review on Respecting Human Rights and Responsible Sourcing on pages 30 to 33 of our ESG report 2022 (https://www.implats-ir.co.za/reports/implats-iar-2022/pdf/ESG-spreads.pdf)

We integrate environmental management into all aspects of the business with the aim of achieving world-class environmental performance in a sustainable manner. This contribution is further enhanced by the role that PGM metals play in the move to a greener economy. The extent to which we have adopted a precautionary approach to managing environmental challenges is reviewed in our sustainability report.
